ALL PRESENT AND ACCOUNTED FOR!

Sunday afternoon, members of the 183d Wing fell out for a wing formation and group photo. Col. John Patterson, Commander, 183d Wing, addressed the Wing as whole prior to an upcoming inspection. The inspection which has been occurring virtually for several months now, will wrap up with a near week long assessment later next month. Col. Patterson took this opportunity to recognize the Wing's Air Force Inspection System (AFIS) team, responsible for continuously inspecting the unit internally, ensuring it maintains a high state of readiness if called on to serve the nation or the citizens of the state of Illinois. He also took the opportunity to recognize several members who have recently won awards at the Wing and above the Wing level.
